

DRAWING CONCLUSIONS TASK CARDS

These 32 short story drawing conclusions task cards are a great way to practice inference, which can be one of the trickier reading strategies. The multiple choice format makes them ideal for test prep. Students can use these cards individually at a center or they could also test each other in pairs. Another option is to use the cards with the whole class for the game SCOOT. A student answer sheet is included, as well as an answer key so students can self-correct. If you want to add an extra challenge, I have also included a "Challenge Card" which asks students to explain their reasoning for each card.

Print this set out in color. For black and white printing, please use the included black line version. If you are printing in black and white, consider printing on colored paper. Simply print and cut along the guidelines. Laminate and use them again and again. One advantage to laminating is you could have students write directly on the card, underlining the words and phrases that helped them draw their conclusions. Alternatively, you could print on cardstock. It works well to keep them in a baggie. Another option is to hole-punch a corner of each card and put them all on a ring. A label for your baggie or card ring is also included.
