Dear Educator,

Thank you for your purchase! This is a resource for teaching sounds of CH. It is part of a large bundle for advanced concepts to support an Orton-Gillingham approach. I will add to the bundle monthly according to a completion schedule.

Who needs practice with advanced concepts?

Students who have progressed further into their study still benefit from a systematic approach to phonology and morphology. This resource aims to provide practice with both as well as more writing practice.

You will notice more written practice using sentence expansion in organized templates. There are also opportunities for reading comprehension practice with the controlled passage provided.

For Bundle Updates

If you own the bundle version, access all updates, login to TpT and go to "My Purchases." Thank you for leaving feedback on this purchase. It is greatly appreciated!

Sincerely,

Emily Gibbons, M.Ed. IDA Certified Dyslexia Practitioner,

Read The Passage.

The brochure for the Monarch Butterfly Museum made it seem interesting. We checked our schedules and noticed it was a school vacation week. There was also a break from chorus practice. We decided to book the trip to Chicago, which was right next to Lake Michigan.

While on the drive to Chicago, we played a funny game of charades while staying seated, which was a little challenging. After about two hours, our stomachs were growling, so we stopped at a diner called the Chrome Chef. It had a 50s theme and the outside had the look of an old diner car. Each table had a music machine on it. For one quarter, it would play an oldie. We randomly chose a song by a group called The Chiffons.

It was time to leave The Chrome Chef and get back on the road. The Monarch Butterfly Museum was still another hour away.

Question 1: Why was it a good time to book the trip?

Question 2: Why did they stop at The Chrome Chef?

Question 3: What did the machine do?

Night At the Symphony

On a _____ trip to the city of _____, we planned to see an _____ perform Symphony number nine. After the symphony, there would be a _____ to sing some classical tunes.

The conductor waited for everyone to sit down. He had a black _____ on his face that curled up on the sides. Some women performers wore dresses made of _____, while the men wore tuxedos. Once we heard the first _____ play, we knew the show would be fantastic. When the performance was over, we all walked to a local eatery. The head _____ actually came out to greet us and tell us about the dinner specials. This is one school trip I will always remember!

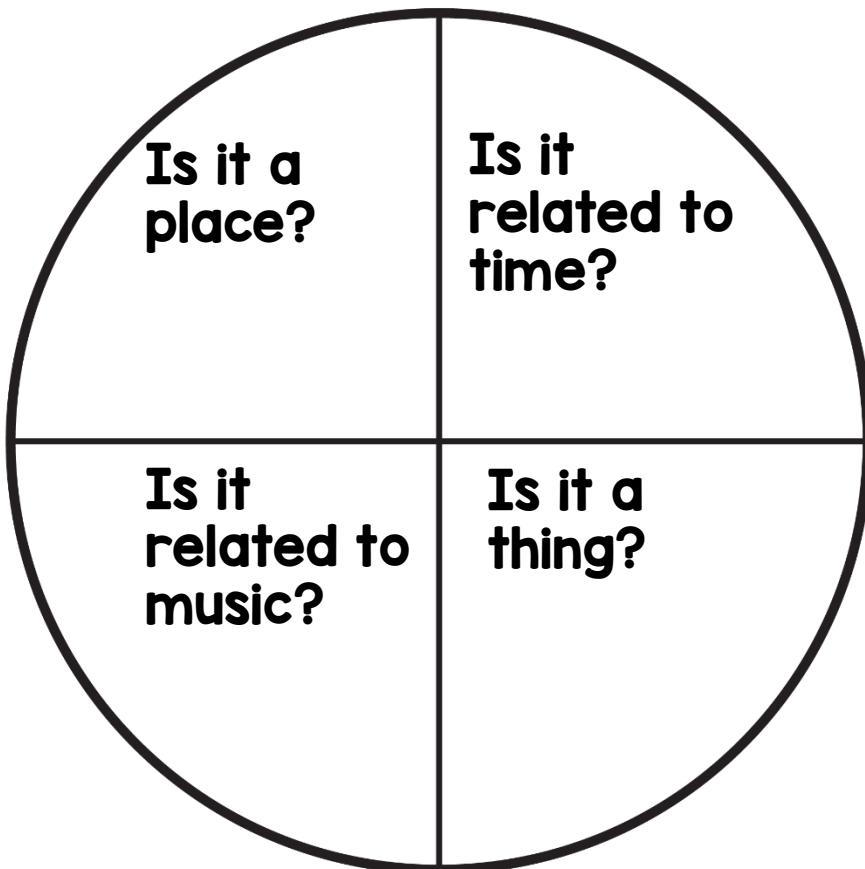

I Mustache You A Question

Skill: Practice reading and spelling words with advanced sounds of CH.

Materials: Double side the page with the mustaches to the page with the word cards onto cardstock. Cut, shuffle and lay in a deck picture side up. Give each student one Mustache game board (laminated), dry erase markers and eraser

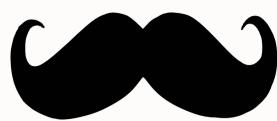

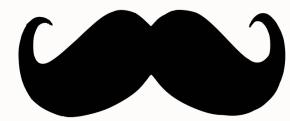

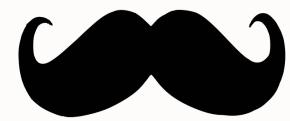

How To Play: Shuffle the cards well.

1. Decide who will take the first turn.
2. On a turn: Player 1 takes a card and writes it in the rectangle on the game board
3. Player 2 spins the spinner. Read the question out loud. Using the WORD, answer the question on the spinner space. Answers to the questions are subjective. They will vary depending on the individual player's personal opinions, but should encourage discussion about the meanings of words.
4. If Player 2 can answer YES to the question they landed on, they keep the card. If no, place the card in a discard pile.
5. On the next turn, players switch roles and follow the same steps from steps 2-4.
6. Keep playing until you get to the end of the deck. The play with the most cards at the end of the game, wins.
7. If a player chooses a card with a mustache under the word, they automatically get to keep that card.
8. Reshuffle and play again.

Write the word.
